

Thursday 4th February

Today we will be:

- describing a setting from Diary of a Killer Cat

After planning our writing yesterday, today we will be describing a setting, using the latest chapter of our book:

"The Diary of a Killer Cat" by Anne Fine

WALT: describe a story setting

Today we will be describing the vets using noun phrases, our ideas from yesterday's planning and maybe your drawings too

RECAP.....What are 'Vets'?

Vets are people who are doctors, for animals.

Where they work (and where people take their smaller animals to be treated) is called a Vets' Practice... usually shortened to 'vets'

Lots of people and lots animals, making lots of noise

What sort of animals could be there?

What sounds would you hear?

Vets are like small hospitals, so what would they smell like?

What are Vets like?

Drawing of the Vets

What would be happening? (owners animals and the people that work there)?

Writing

Here is an example of how a Vets could be described (to guide you with your descriptions)

White walls and white floors. The vets is like a hospital with everything looking clean and fresh. Dogs hide behind their owner's legs, cats with razor-sharp teeth tremble in their baskets and screeching parrots squawk loudly. There is a smell of chemicals in the air and behind the doors there are shadows of owners looking after their yelping puppies. Bright sunshine streams through the windows and you can feel the worry that every animal has running through their veins.

Remember Amazing Adjectives!

eg razor-sharp claws, screeching parrots, yelping puppies
